TO HER

“Hand in hand we come
Christopher Robin and I
To lay this book in your lap.
Say you’re surprised?
Say you like it?
Say it’s just what you wanted?
Because it’s yours —
Because we love you.”

Class Song

Loyal, we march with our banner on high,
Symbol of our friendships true;
We pledge our love as our hearts swell with pride
And honor the Abbot blue —
Oh, Abbot, as we strive on through the years,
Your spirit will e'er remain,
As the Class of '54 sings here,
Praising your well-loved name.

Our Expotition to . . .

INTERVALE

One fine day we stumped down to the station, and soon we were on our way to the North Pole. When we finally got there, it was raining, but when we woke up the next morning, there it was — snowing! "The more it SNOWS — tiddely-pom." Pooh watched us as we walked and skied and bowled and shopped, and he listened eagerly when Miss Hearsey told us all about the Expotitions of Piglet, Chistopher Robin, Eeyore, Kanga, Roo, and Rabbit and his relations.

PREPS

Although the Prep class is the first in the series of four, the class of '57 has already caught on to the tricks and tactics of boarding school life such as: careful dust, apple core, and powder piles in some invisible corner; bed dummies; pie beds; knotted pajamas; and closet study halls.

'57' now has its own characteristic phrases and antics. "Idgeeboo," "gooder," "bless yooo," "love you always in the morning," "beeseguys," and other quips which appear undecipherable to upper classmen are frequently heard in our conversations.

Our favorites are homemade "cookers," "I Want to Be Evil," those cherished hours from nine-thirty to seven, hair-cutting sessions, fast caps, "Love That Red" toenail polish, and "J'en doute." These are just a few pieces of the puzzle which when fitted together form '57's Prep year which will be unforgettable to us all.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

With the standards of last year's Student Government as a guide, we of the Council have tried to do our work, regarding the interests of both faculty and the students. As any Student Government should, we have added several innovations to our organization, among them the Blue Key, the Library Committee, and, at the suggestion of the faculty, an advisor system. We have endeavored, under the generous guidance of Miss Hearsey and the fine leadership of Joanie, to continue the emphasis on the individual's becoming a responsible, mature member of the student body.

As members of the Abbot Christian Association, we are given opportunities to be of help to many people and organizations. However, the intrinsic value of our association is that it embraces all the school in a common bond of Christian love. The personal spiritual goals realized and developed at Abbot will prepare and sustain us for the experiences of our future lives.

ABBOT DRAMATIC SOCIETY

The Abbot Dramatic Society is one of the best extra-curricular groups in our life. It consists of girls in the upper two classes, who do not necessarily have outstanding acting ability, but who show an interest in dramas and have potentialities. Membership is limited to fifteen, but a balance between the two classes and the merits of a small group are factors. Without a discourse on the value of a dramatic society, let it suffice to say that this has been a most successful year under the patient, professional guidance of Miss Hale.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

The Library Committee is another new organization this year. The members of the group assist the librarian in many of the details of library-keeping. The successful efforts of the committee contribute much to the smooth running of the library.

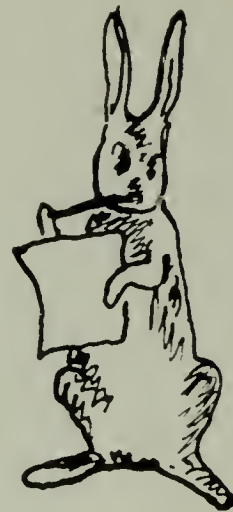

A new organization this year is the Blue Key Society. It aids Miss Hearsey in welcoming parents and their daughters to Abbot. This gives them an idea of school life through the girls' point of view. We hope to have set a precedent that will remain successful.

Once upon a time there lived at Abbot a group of girls under the name of The Circle Staff. In the particular year of 1954, the staff was larger than usual, having as its distinguished honorary members, Winnie-the-Pooh, Christopher Robin, Piglet, Kanga (and Roo) and Rabbit with ALL of his friends and relations. Without fail each Wednesday afternoon, this merry group gathered in its Draper Den. "Thump, thump, thump" went their brains thinking, and their heads nodded to and fro at the wise suggestions of their helpful advisor, Mrs. Reeves. Busy as bees and humming a hum as they worked, they planned, photographed, sketched and wrote, always eyeing the oncoming deadline. Pooling their "Very Little Brains," they had fun working together. And now their book is finished. Here it is. THEY MADE IT!

COURANT

Twice a year, by dint of frantic searching for material, last-minute proof reading, and wild racking of the brain, we of the Courant Board turn out another slim masterpiece of literary genius. The product of much hard work on the part of its members or any other kind soul who has contributed, it owes much of its success to the able sponsorship of Miss Sweeney. In spite of a rather unliterary atmosphere in our garret room, i.e., pipes, radiators, suffocating heat, we have managed, like other struggling artists before us, to meet our deadlines. We hope that future boards will survive the hectic weeks before publication and will find, as we have, a deep reward in the fruits of their labor.

ABBOT ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Abbot Athletic Association greeted back familiar stars as well as welcoming in new ones this year, and, as each girl pledged full support to her respective team, all were on the alert for an unusually fine year of friendly team competition.

The athletic council was under the leadership of our very capable president, Panna de Cholnoky, assisted by vice-president Vicky Schwab, secretary Bev Gramkow, and treasurer Peggy Moore.

ABBOT ATHLETICS

The sports calendar was full of shining highlights this year. The hockey and lacrosse playdays found the Abbot team on nearly every winning side, and as for Field Days, they were the hardest ever fought. The Griffin and Gargoyle teams, under the impartial and conscientious direction of our three favorite gym teachers, Miss Judd, Miss Ritchie, and Miss Peddle, were decked out for battle as never before, and as Winnie "Griffin" Johnson and Margie "Gargoyle" Johnson fought it out, they never strayed from friendly competition.

GARGOYLES

The legend of the Gargoyle Team goes back to the days of bows and arrows, knights and fair ladies, when Robin Hood and his "merry green band" opposed the men of the great Lion-Hearted King in Sherwood Forest. Although all of us know that the "merry green band" was always victorious and outwitted the enemy, few of us have ever heard of the secret behind these successes. There was a comrade who served with Robin Hood and, although he only slightly resembled his fellows, he was their spy, their inspiring force, and their favorite. This was Lister! He has remained immortal with his "merry green band" through the years down to 1934.

GRIFFINS

With a blaze of bright color
We made a good start;
With walks and with stamps
Each "Griff" did her part.

With Winnie and Gus
The shield we had sought,
And behind those brave two
We valiantly fought.

Gus retired soon after
The first of the year;
Then Caesar came forth
With a loud, roaring cheer.

With Frannie to lead us
We now sing our praise
To the team that's a winner
Both now and always!

Dance Club minus four

SPORTS...

From initiation day until "Field Fall Day," we all played hard on the basketball and tennis courts and the hockey field. The games were all exciting and the awards were the grand climax.

Soon the cold weather drove us inside to the gym and dance classes. With the coming of colder weather, we took to the ice and ski slopes. The thrilling gym demonstration ended the winter term.

The warm weather set in and we rushed out to baseball, tennis, and lacrosse, supplemented by archery, track, and riding. The tops in competition was Spring Field Day.

At last chapel, after much anticipation, the Shield was awarded, thus closing sports for another year.

Need we say more?
